TO
ERVIN THEODORE BROWN

TREASURER of Rollins College, the Senior Class of 1932, and the staff of the TOMOKAN, respectfully dedicate this book. To each of us who are graduating this year, Mr. Brown has shown many favors, and has always been glad to give us his time and aid in solving our financial or our personal difficulties. To the student body as a whole he shows this same consideration. As Treasurer of the Student Association, he is especially able to help in the management of student activities.

To the staff of the TOMOKAN, Mr. Brown has showed more than usual favors, and he has been constantly interested in the welfare of all the Rollins publications.

We as seniors and as publishers of the college year book are therefore glad of this opportunity to show our appreciation for his kindnesses.

THE FACULTY

THE spirit of any venture, be it collegiate or of the work-a-day world, has never been known to be infused from the bottom ranks up, but on the other hand, the leaders have first seen the light and have passed on their inspiration to a host of followers. Hamilton Holt was possessed of an idea. Enthusiasm for the idea seized the deans, the faculty, the students. It is the task of the three deans to see that the purity of the ideal is adhered to. Winslow S. Anderson runs the whole gamut of college student life in his experience as dean of the college. Arthur D. Enyart is popular and greatly admired as dean of men.

Vivian Bingham has charm and understanding for the girls she meets as dean of women.

THE NEXT STEPS

PRESIDENT HAMILTON HOLT

I suppose that whatever fame Rollins may have achieved in the last few years beyond our campus is due almost entirely to what we have done to humanize education. What are some of the next steps ahead?

We have a wonderful opportunity to vitalize religion now that we have the matchless Knowles Memorial Chapel. Will we be able really to make it serve the higher life of the College? The only thing that could possibly prevent us is our own limitations, for there is no dead hand of wealth, no state legislature, no Pope, no General Assembly, nobody with authority telling us what we must or must not do.

The Annie Russell Theatre will also give us an unparalleled opportunity to write and produce our own plays, as well as reproduce successful current and classical plays, and have even professional companies visit us. What we may do, if we will, with this theatre would be impossible to exaggerate.

There are many problems connected with our student social life that yet remain unsolved. The most difficult, if not most important, of these is the fraternity and sorority problem. It would be easy to abolish fraternities but that is only running away from the problem. Is there not enough vision and courage at Rollins to find the best solution and then with courage act upon it?

Intercollegiate athletics, especially football, is the subject of much heated controversy. Cannot we here also improve and save what is good and eliminate the bad without retiring baffled to intramural sports? I believe we can.

These are some of the problems that I covet the honor of trying to solve in the immediate future. I am sure if we work together in the spirit of the greatest good for the greatest number, we shall succeed.

THE CALENDAR

1931-1932 will long be hearkened back to, by most people, as the worst time of the great depression. But the history of the academic year at Rollins has a pleasant and progressive atmosphere which will make this period stand out in the minds of most of us for an entirely different reason. The life of the college has been gorged with a multitude of activities and acquisitions. New professors have come, new courses added, wonderful new buildings erected, famous friends and patrons have visited us, and withall we have enjoyed the atmosphere of the beauty of this Florida literary colony.

THE CALENDAR

Can you picture this? If you can you are in vogue with the calendar section which is a series of pictures taken by different people at different times representative of the life at Rollins for the year 1931-32.

Rollins college can rightfully boast of its beautiful campus and well-kept buildings. Most picturesque is the view obtained by a glance through the trees sighting Knowles, Lyman, and Chase Halls, three of our oldest buildings. Unique within itself, and original, too, is Dr. Holt's

"Walk of Fame." This path of stones collected from the homes of famous men and women encircles a beautiful clump of bamboo, and connects Carnegie and Knowles Halls. The two girl's dormitories, Mayflower and Pugsley Hall are two of the finest buildings of their kind in the South. Pugsley Hall is named for its donor, while Mayflower takes its name from the old Pilgrim ship. These buildings are connected in the rear by a long shaded corridor furnished with lounging chairs and tables. From its shade one can watch the tennis courts. Rollins Hall, a boy's dormitory, was the first building on the campus which follows out the Mediterranean architectural scheme planned for the college.

The Rollins of the future will be entirely Mediterranean in architecture, and every building is already planned as to its location, general layout, and use to which it will be put. It is one of Dr. Holt's hopes that, since the size of Rollins is limited and its campus can be planned well in advance, we may have the most beautiful campus of any college in America.

The furnishings of the two new dormitories are quite in keeping with the architecture of the buildings, and are a credit to the college. Over the fireplace in Mayflower Hall, there is a beam from the original Pilgrim ship, "The Mayflower," which Dr. Holt discovered in England. The lobby in Pugsley hall is pictured below, showing the type of furniture and draperies found in it.

Lakeside and Cloverleaf dormitories are the oldest of the buildings for girls, but they make ideal homes for senior and freshman girls respectively. In contrast with these are the two latest additions to the campus, the Knowles chapel, and the theatre. Both the theatre and the chapel are done in the Mediterranean style of architecture and are types of the buildings of the Rollins of the future.

FRESHMAN WEEK

Reading, writing, and 'rithmetic and Freshman week began September 29. Committees selected by each fraternity and sorority and students from non-fraternity groups met the trains which brought the new students to their destination. From all states and countries came students seeking knowledge from one of the best-known educational institutions in the South. Every old student was as excited as the new ones by the opening of the new school year.

Not only students but alumni were active in creating a friendly spirit towards the freshmen. A tea was given in honor of the girls and a smoker for the boys during the first week of school. These are annual events and afford pleasure as well as a chance for the alumni and freshmen to become acquainted.

the sophomores it was who bore the brunt of the water, water, everywhere.

More serious in its aspects is study, and Rollins has no rules which bars a student from work.

Tradition is a great part of college life, and at Rollins tradition calls for an annual fight between the freshmen and sophomore classes. This year saw a glorious water fight, and

The situation of Rollins on the lakeshore, and the warm climate that we have, make water sports among the most popular of them all. Crew is receiving more and more interest, since Coach Bill Oldham came over from England, where he had rowed on the Oxford crew, to coach the Rollins oarsmen. Canoeing, diving and swimming interest an even larger portion of the student body, for men and women both have teams for each of these water sports. There is talk, too, of a women's crew.

May seventh was a big day for water-loving Rollins for there gathered on that day swimmers from all parts of the state for the thirteenth Annual Interscholastic Water Meet. Exhibition diving, war canoe races between crews of Rollins co-eds, and the fight for the annual

Those men who do not go out for the intercollegiate sports have intra-mural basketball, volleyball, and diamond-ball to fill their time during the fall, winter, and spring terms respectively. The intra-mural teams command wider and wider interest from the student body, and the school championships are hard fought for by fraternity and dormitory teams.

canoe-tilting championships were special features provided by Rollins for the entertainment of spectators and participants of the main events.

There are always other sports to interest those who do not go out for Rollins varsity teams. For the girls there are class teams in basketball, hockey, swimming, volleyball, and a variety of other sports. From these class teams comes the material which makes up the Odd-Even teams for women's sports. New sports are constantly being made available to the girls, riding, and fencing being among those added this year. Possibility of women's crew was mentioned.

up of representatives of each sorority on the campus, and handles all sorority difficulties, and rules the rushing period.

Rollins attracts people from all corners of the earth and we have every year an interested group of 12 foreign students complimentary to their home lands. Canada, Russia, Austria, France and China are among the many nations from which students have come to Rollins. They all come to us with a talent along some line, and are soon taking a part in all activities offered. For each of several years a foreign student has played on the varsity tennis team, and this year number one and two positions are filled by our exchange scholars. Others take a great interest in swimming, dancing, or hiking. The Rollins campus would not seem like home without its foreign friends.

On these pages are represented for you some of the many organizations and persons who gave form and color to our life at Rollins this year. The student council, the Rollins Key society, the group of foreign students and the Pan-Hellenic council, all four take an active part in making the spirit of old

Rollins what it is. Clubs are very prominent features in the college scheme, and are helpful to the studious, and great fun besides. There are numerous language clubs, such as the French and Spanish clubs. The athletes of the campus have their clubs which help manage the college sports; glee club, debate clubs and others furnish an interest for all. All these things

Dr. Holt has brought together and made possible.

The student council is made up of students representative of the student body, and it acts to solve student problems and to insure cooperation between faculty and students. The Rollins Key society is a select group of students who have attained merit in scholarship and who are outstanding in other fields. The Pan-Hellenic council is made

Dr. Holt's wish to have every girl and boy a member of a sorority or a fraternity may soon be filled for there are now twelve fraternal organizations on the campus for one to choose from. Six national sororities are now to be found, and there are rumors of more to be organized in the next year. Kappa Kappa Gamma was installed at Rollins at Christmas this year; last year Alpha Phi and Chi Omega entered the campus. Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Mu, and Phi Beta Phi have been on the campus for some time. They were installed in the order named. Only two national men's fraternities are established on the Rollins campus at present: Kappa Alpha and Theta Kappa Nu. Local fraternities are Kappa Phi Sigma, the "X" club, Delta Rho Gamma, and Rho Lambda Nu.

There have been several serious attempts to adjust fraternities better to the Rollins ideal this year; the most positive action was that taken by the sororities to shorten the rushing period and make it less strenuous. Other action is now pending.

Here are a few more reminders of the many sports and diversions that the college and the surrounding country offer as a relief from the regular routine of work. Daytona Beach, a world-famous resort, is just sixty miles from Winter Park, and is the scene of many house - parties and week-end trips. The Pattee Cottage, rechristened "The Pelican," has been secured by the college. Located on another beach, Coronado, it is popular with the students. Football teams train there, and classes have even been held there.

Miss Marjorie Weber, director of girls' athletics, and "Fleet" Peeples, aquatic sports director, have added much to our enjoyment of leisure hours. Both are ready to go far beyond the bounds of duty to help us have a good time. Miss Weber is up at six every morning organizing a hike, or a war-canoe team. Fleet arranges week - end trips for students up the Wekiva river in canoes.

All these pictures of people about the campus were made at the annual "Sandspur" luncheon, which was given for its staff by the Sandspur, Florida's best college paper, at a Winter Park tea room. Besides the present newspaper staff, there were in attendance many former members of the staff, including the outstanding speaker of the occasion, Mr. Mowbray, the Sandspur's first editor. Introduced by the toastmaster, Jim Ottaway, present editor of the paper, Mr. Mowbray told how the college was rescued from having pink and blue as colors.

Mr. Willard A. Wat-

cles, the faculty advisor of the Sandspur and one of the factors in building it up to its present high standards, was present at the luncheon, as were Dr. Holt, Dean Anderson, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Hanna, all of whom we managed to photograph.

In the office above all the business of the three student association publications, the Sandspur, the Flamingo, and the TOMOKAN, is conducted. The office has been slowly furnished from publications funds, and now it is a creditable, if fairly small office. It is planned to enlarge the office this year.

The outstanding event of February is Founder's Week. This corresponds to homecoming week at other colleges and is the occasion when alumni and classes get together for their reunions. The most important events of this week are the publication of the "Animated Magazine," the world's only magazine that comes alive, and Convocation. The magazine brings to Rollins authors and speakers of great renown, and Dr. Holt, so long editor of the Independent is perfectly at home when he, as editor, calls upon the contributors to speak their contributions. The Magazine was published this year on the lawn, out-of-doors.

At the convocation exercises held in Recreation Hall, honorary degrees were granted after the address of the morning was delivered by Zona Gale. The Sullivan Medallion was awarded Dr. Charles A. Campbell, Dean of the Knowles Memorial Chapel at the convocation exercises.

During Founder's Week, the cornerstone of the Annie Russell Theatre was laid. Miss Russell aided Dr. Holt and members of the faculty and student body at this task. Other events of the week were the alumni luncheon, and the reunion of the classes. At the annual meeting of the Alumni officers were elected.

This year saw the completion and dedication of two of the most important units of the new Rollins—The Knowles Memorial Chapel, and the Annie Russell Theatre.

The buildings, the first of which was given by Mrs. Francis Knowles Warren in memory of her father, and the second by Mrs. Edward W. Bok in honor of Miss Annie Russell, stand side by side, for the first time since the middle ages when drama grew out of the ritual of religion.

The Chapel was dedicated on Tuesday morning, March 29, and the Theatre in the evening of the same day. Mrs. Warren at the dedication of the chapel presented its keys to Dr. Holt who, in thanking her, expressed the hope that the chapel will take a prominent place in the life of the college. The A Capella Choir of the Chapel made its first appearance on the day of the dedication.

The Theatre was dedicated in a ceremony that preceded the production of Browning's poetic drama, "In a Balcony," in which Miss Russell herself took the leading part.

Both Chapel and Theatre have already shown their influence on the college, and they offer to future students even greater benefits.

Dr. Charles A. Campbell, for a long time professor of Bible and of Entomology at Rollins, is Dean of the Knowles Memorial Chapel. Dr. Campbell has many friends among the student body and the people of Winter Park and the surrounding country, all of whom believe that he was the best possible selection to fill the position of Dean of the Chapel—a position that requires a man of sincere religion and a modern outlook, one not bound by sectarian ties.

The beautiful organ of the Knowles Memorial Chapel is played by the Chapel organist, Herman F. Siewert, four times Dean of the Florida chapter of the American Guild of organists.

It seems most elevating to be a senior until the time comes for saying farewell. Every senior then wishes he were a freshman just starting on the journey upward.

A most dignified group of seventy-eight were graduated on the fourth of June in an impressive ceremony. Harvey Gee, president of the class, led the procession into the chapel. This was the first class to be graduated in the new chapel, and the newness added to an already beautiful ceremony.

Dr. Heilman, dean of the School of Commerce at Northwestern University, and father of one of the graduating class, delivered the commencement address to the seniors.

The Algeron Sydney Sullivan Medallion was bestowed, honors were granted, diplomas issued, and the ceremony was over. As the procession filed out, the year 1932 was brought to a close.

The class graduating this June has probably witnessed the years of the greatest change that Rollins has undergone. Coming here while there were still in college students who had matriculated before Dr. Holt arrived at Rollins, and before the introduction of the concentration plan, the class has stayed to see the introduction of the New Plan of study.

Before the introduction of the present concentration system everyone took five or more different subjects every term, and courses took a whole year for completion.

For two years the new system prevailed, but the curriculum conference in 1931 began a new set of changes which resulted in the adoption of the New Plan.

CLASS I

SINCE the abolition of the traditional "class" designations under the New Plan at Rollins, we can no longer refer to students as seniors, juniors, sophomores, or freshmen. What though a number of students are permitted to appear in academic processions attired in the conventional cap and gown, and have to look to their dignity as the eldest and wisest of the undergraduate group, they are not to be termed "seniors." It would seem that we apply to such students the impressive cognomen of "Upper Division Candidates for Degrees." In the unconventionalization of Rollins, may we not hope for an improvement in the academic apparel?

THE HISTORY OF THE SENIOR CLASS

June 4, 1932

DEAR PREXY:

You don't know how many golden memories were brought back to us after hearing you speak at the dinner today, and we wonder now if there will ever be another class to achieve and experience the advancements in education that our class did during those four short years. And as you spoke of the class of '32 and how much we had done, we immediately remarked of you and the Yale class of '94 which we have heard you speak of many times.

As freshmen, although green, we had the biggest time of our lives making an introduction to our sophisticated sophomore year when we had to settle down to the new Concentration System of studying which was an addition to our Two Hour Conference Plan. That same year we were making a wish of yours come true when Phi Mu and Pi Beta Phi were installed, and we heard of the new secret organization for men, the 0000, which made us very curious. We also had a lot of excitement when we were notified to be in the Osceola Pageant at the Brewer Estate, and no one could decide what part he or she wanted to take. Now doesn't that sound like a class of freshmen?

Our sophomore year we took great delight in watching the Rat Committee tell the freshmen what to do. A number of the fellows were put to work on the crew, and many of the girls took part in the first Dance Review. We saw the first unit of the new Rollins go up on the east end of the campus, Rollins Hall. This was the year, too, when all the newsreel men were here to take pictures, during the Animated Magazine, of Edison and other "golden personalities."

THE HISTORY OF THE SENIOR CLASS

Our busy Junior year then came along when we came out with the best Junior-Senior Prom that any class had given for many years, for we had a banquet for the 1931 graduating class as well as the dance which took place in Orlando at the Orange Court Hotel. 1931 also saw more organizations established on campus such as Chi Omega and Alpha Phi, and some friends gave us money for more new buildings, Pugsley and Mayflower Halls; the Art Studio, too, was moved, oh—there were so many changes that year, it seems that every year we were in college everything grew by leaps and bounds.

Then we came to our Senior year, the one we prize as the best of all. The football team came out on top, the debate team took a northern tour and was successful, every one of the class subscribed to the Senior Loan Fund of which we are very proud, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Pi Kappa Delta were both installed, the beautiful buildings of Knowles Memorial Chapel and the Annie Russell Theatre were erected, and we saw another change in the curriculum although it did not affect our class. It is our guess, however, that the Admission to Upper Division Committee did not want too many to handle the first year. There were so many things that were worth noting and remembering that all our lives we are going to be thinking of them over and over again.

We are writing this bread and butter letter to thank you for many profitable and enjoyable weeks we have had at college.

Very, very sincerely,

CLASS II

THAT trying adolescent period of college life when the student begins to be aware of the childishness of his sophomoric days, and desires to ape the unconscious condescension of those who hope for June graduation, can no longer be called the "junior year." The dignified title of "Upper Division Students" should aid materially in their assumption of reposed sophistication, especially in the case of those fortunate individuals who gain admission into the upper division before the customary two years have elapsed. Having jumped the division hurdles as the applicant so delicately puts it, he usually feels entitled to some repose.

CLASS III

THE barbarous state of sophomorphism has been smoothed over into a state of "Candidacy for Admission into the Upper Division." At first glance the name sounds imposing, but closer scrutiny reveals that it merely strikes a note of hope. When all students of the lower division are finally put in one group, we wonder what will become of the good old days of hazing the freshmen, and of asserting one's obvious superiority by reason of having arrived at college a whole year in advance of someone else. Can it be possible that college will become a civilized place where new students are received as rational human beings with the beginnings of intelligence?

CLASS IV

THE new students, now called freshmen, will be the hands of the body of the lower division, for they will be reaching out in all directions trying to gain an insight into many phases of knowledge. They will begin to desire the actual learning of interesting things about the world, with admission into the upper division and eventual graduation playing only a minor role, instead of being main objectives, as degrees have been too often in the past. This year's new students will be the ones to praise or condemn the new plan, for they will be the first ones to go through the whole of college under its influence. Its success depends largely on their cooperative helpfulness in setting the attitude of future participants of the New Plan.

MEN'S SPORTS

*T*HE generosity of Emil Fuchs and Connie Mack scored a home-run with all the college on March 29, when they presented the Boston Braves and the Philadelphia Athletics in a benefit baseball game here. The entire proceeds will be used in building an athletic field for Rollins. There is planned not only an excellent football field and stadium for the increasingly successful games of our team, but a running track and all the appurtenances of a well-rounded athletic schedule.

Increased interest this year in intra-mural games insures them a place beside inter-collegiate sports in the planned Rollins Athletic Field.

VALDES, CHIEF LEADER

1930's promises for a successful 1931 grid campaign were not deceiving and the Jack Tars ran through a tough schedule before climaxing the most successful season in years. Coaches Jack McDowall and Bob Evans placed a team on the gridiron that had the fight to come through fire to defeat several teams previously rated superior, as well as the ability which converts fight into touchdowns.

The only defeat of the season was at the hands of the decidedly inferior Miami U. team, which was outplayed by the Tars but which was donated a winning touchdown by a philanthropical referee. The boos came equally from the Miami and Rollins supporters.

The loss of five units of the powerful forward wall is bound to be felt next year though most of the alternating backfields and ends will be on hand in September.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Loss of interest set in too soon on the Rollins freshman football squad which dwindled from about twenty-five members to thirteen by the third game of a four game schedule. One victory, a defeat, and a tie gave the rats a .500 rating when the fourth game was cancelled.

Winter Park high school was no match for the Baby Tars in the first encounter, the Rollins boys taking an easy 25-0 victory. The morale broke when the frosh, with their coach at Miami, found the going too rough against

F. M. I. and allowed the Haines City eleven to score a 19-0 victory. The squad of only thirteen men fought Sanford high school to a 12-12 tie. Rollins led when the official playing time was over, but the failure of the time keeper's gun permitted an extra play on which Sanford scored the tying touchdown.

Few of the frosh can be depended on for any outstanding varsity contributions in 1932, but several of them should develop into valuable men for McDowall in their junior and senior years.

BASKETBALL

COACH MCDOWALL

Taking consolation for present losses by the promise of future success may be rationalization but such mental gymnastics by Rollins students this year seem fully warranted. The extent to which a host of Rollins sophomore and junior basketeers improved before the end of the season is indeed encouraging and Coach McDowall will have a squad of veterans to build into a speedy and accurate 1933 quintet.

The boys lacked the size of most of their opponents and had not worked together before. Then the handicap of a late start because of inadequate gym facilities predestined the season to a failure in the percentage column.

Consequently McDowall centered his efforts toward building for next year and the late season games indicated that his plan was wise and its success indeed probable.

Although Hodgkinson, Stan Miller, and Luke McDowall will be lost through graduation, the new men added to the team and the season of experience will have whipped the team into winning shape.

A feature of the season was a successful renewal of athletic relations with Stetson University. Three close games were played and an admirable quality of sportsmanship was exhibited on both sides.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

After opening the season with an impressive victory over Tampa Junior College, the Rollins Frosh waded through a ten game schedule before once more taking the long end of the score in the closing game of the season, an 18-10 victory over Groveland.

In many of the games, the Baby Tars led their opponents at the end of the first half but were unable to maintain that lead through to the final gun. Three games were lost on last minute rallies by the opponents after the rats had led throughout the fray.

Despite the low percentage of wins, Coach Jack Mc-

Dowall will be able to add some valuable material to his varsity squad next year from the ranks of the 1932 frosh players. The Rats possessed considerable ability but lacked coordination and confidence in the pinches, weaknesses that should be lost with a year of varsity competition.

A number of the men on the Freshman squad had kept in training for basketball through the fall term by participating in the intra-mural games. Valuable though this practise was, it did not teach them the lesson they most needed, that of playing together.

BASEBALL

Though the season was barely begun at the time of going to press, Rollins' baseball team showed promise of going through the most successful schedule of any sport on the 1931-32 program, including football and golf.

Interest in the national pastime was revived in a big way and the call to the diamond was greeted with almost three full teams of enthusiastic candidates. Coach Bob Evans undertook the tutelage of this likely crew and with the aid of timely pointers of members of the Winter Park semi-pro veterans and the financial support of Judge Fuchs, owner of the Boston Braves, a powerful team has been developed that is the source of real pride to the college baseball fans.

Norman Park sent a team whose record boasted two straight wins over Florida

University to open the Tar schedule. Tables were reversed, however, and the Winter Park lads upheld Florida baseball prestige with straight victories. A ten day trip through Georgia was next in line, after which the home campaign was to be re-opened at Harper-Shepherd field.

Not the least of the difficulties faced by Coach Evans and his managers was the scheduling of games with opponents in somewhat the same class as Rollins. Stetson, Southern and Miami were unable to furnish competition and few other S. I. A. A. schools were represented by baseball teams. Consequently most of the games had to be played against Southern Conference colleges and even though the percentage of victories may not be as high as could be desired, a decent showing will spell success.

Love, McDonnell, Ward, Kuhns, Tilden, Newton

GOLF

With victories over all S.I.A.A. opponents as well as one member of the Southern Conference, and the Aloma country club team, the Rollins golf team of 1932 was indeed a success. Six out of twelve matches resulted in Rollins wins, four of the defeats being suffered at the hands of three of the strongest teams of the Southern Conference and the other two to the Sanford and Augusta country clubs. Miami and Southern lost to the Tars twice by decisive scores.

Captain Freddie Newton played number one all season with Dexter Ward collecting many points in number two position. Inglis Love, Clifton Turner, Ben Kuhns, James Ottaway, Tilden and McConnell alternated in the other positions.

The 9.5 to 8.5 victory over N. C. State is believed to be the first Rollins victory over a Southern Conference varsity team opponent, at least in the last decade. The season's successes have given encouragement to the lovers of golf, and a more liberal apportionment of funds will add to the possibilities of more real competition next year.

Carl Farley won the annual intra-mural handicap tournament cup for low net score while Pete Maxon captured the medal for low gross score.

FARLEY

Edmonds, Kirillin, Funkhouser, Slavik, Dunbar, Tenaille, Dwight

TENNIS

Though the Rollins tennis squad carried as much power if not more than last year, intercollegiate competition has become more severe and the Tar net men were unable to carry off honors in any college match. New Smyrna twice fell before the Rollins teams, and several individuals gave a good account of themselves in tournaments at Orlando and other neighboring cities.

Tenaille, Slavik, Funkhouser, Dunbar, Edmonds and Kirillin

were awarded letters. Tenaille and Slavik, playing first and second singles, won 13 of the 24 points made by the team during the season and formed a doubles combination that reached the finals of the Florida intercollegiate tournament which was held on the Rollins courts.

In the intra-mural tournaments, David Horowitz won the singles championship, and Wallace Child and Bob Dunbar, the doubles.

Standing: Brokemyer, Fuchs, Sullivan, Peeples, Baldwin, Austin. Kneeling: Fisher, Christ, Carrison

SWIMMING

Rollins swimming team is in the midst of one of its most successful seasons. The first meet of the year was held December 15, against St. Petersburg Junior College, and Rollins won first place in every event. Another meet was held with St. Petersburg in February, which was also won by Rollins. April 9, the University of Miami was met, Rollins being defeated 31-26. A return meet is to be held with the University of Miami, May 14.

The thirteenth annual Florida State Interscholastic Swimming meet is to be held at Rollins May 7. There are to be 135 contestants in this meet, representing 22 High Schools throughout the state. Some of the largest High Schools in the state are to be represented, and much rivalry is being shown.

The fortunate situation of the college on the shores of a large lake emphasises the advantages of swimming and other aquatic sports. Besides bringing the Interscholastic Water Meet to the college, it should bring the best swimmers of the state as students. This year's team should bring added interest and encouragement from the student body.

CREW

Rollins Varsity Crew had no definite schedule arranged for the season, and was unable to find any suitable teams to oppose them. An attempt was made to schedule a meet with Asheville School, Asheville, North Carolina, but after negotiating for some time this meet was found impossible. After practicing for some time, the team met a group of old college stars gathered together by Coach Oldham, and defeated them by several lengths. It is only lack of opponents that keeps crew from being one of the most attractive of Rollins' sports. A good coach, a good stretch of water, new equipment, and an interested set of oarsmen, have made a good crew.

The crew on Lake Maitland

Applegate, Libbey, Ogburn, Marchman, Warfield

FENCING

Splendid success resulted from the introduction of a new sport in the Rollins athletic calendar this year. The only competition which the boys faced was in the southern conference fencing tournament at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, in which two Rollins representatives were entered. Howard Ogburn reached the semi-finals to give the Tars the points that placed them in a tie with Virginia and South Carolina for fourth place. Both Ogburn and Marchman were eliminated by the man who won the individual championship. Nine of the largest universities of the south are members of the conference and fencing is the only local sport in which Rollins competes in the southern conference.

The College is indeed fortunate to have Professor Roney, one of the finest swordsmen in the south, to coach this sport. The short time which he has been here has been sufficiently long for him to arouse great interest in this ancient sport. With promise of added material and an earlier start next year Mr. Roney is confident of a championship or second place in the 1933 tournament.

Durkee, French, Karnopp, Williams, Pickering, Rowell

VOLLEY BALL

If hot competition and rivalry is any indication, the annual intra-mural volleyball tournament again grew before its completion until it rivalled diamond ball and basketball in all college interest.

Kappa Phi Sigma won the plaque after taking the first half and coming from behind in the second half with six straight victories. The X Club was runner-up while Delta Rho Gamma, Kappa Alpha and Chase Hall fought all the way for third honors and finished close together.

Rho Lambda Nu and Theta Kappa Nu, as is basketball, proved plenty of competition in the games but were unable to climb high in the percentage column.

Volleyball is played in the winter term, two afternoons each week. A schedule of four games per day of playing is maintained on the two courts in front of Pugsley Hall.

No fraternity or dormitory has any trouble in finding six or more interested men who will fight for places on its team.

DIAMOND BALL

Capturing their second major intra-mural title of the year, the team entered by the X Club became the successors to Chase Hall, 1931 diamond ball champions. The winners dropped two games out of twelve starts, one each half, both being lost to the Kappa Alpha squad after the title had been clinched.

Kappa Alpha, Kappa Phi Sigma and Rollins Hall were represented by strong teams and finished in close order. Sloat Hodgson, Kappa Phi Sigma, kept the highest batting average.

Each team played two games per week, and met each of the other teams four times in the course of the tournament. Included in the X Club line-up were Love, catcher; Gee and Fris, pitchers; Pinkerton, first base; Joe Morse, second base; Child, short-stop; Hodgkinson, third base; Ganson, short center; Orr, LaCrosse, Edmunds, outfielders.

Standing: Pinkerton, Edmonds, Fris, Moon, Orr, Lord, Brooks. Sitting: Love, Miller, Walton

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

Intramural basketball, a new event in the Rollins sport calendar, was the first competition in the program of college competition that has provided outlet for the athletic endeavors of over half the men in college and has commanded plenty of interest in addition.

The X Club quintet, composed of Bill Miller, Charlie Brooks, Dave Fris, Harry Lord, and Harry Orr, went through both rounds undefeated to capture undisputed possession of the cup. Chase Hall dropped two encounters, both of them to the X Club, while Kappa Phi Sigma and Delta Rho Gamma battled for third honors, the nod finally going to the former. Bill Miller almost doubled the score of his nearest opponent to win the high score medal of the tournament.

At the close of the tournament, this all-star team was selected by the coaches: Miller (X Club) and Funkhouser (Theta Kappa Nu), forwards; Trudeau (Rho Lambda Nu), center; Childs (Kappa Alpha) and Joe Morse (Delta Rho Gamma), guards. All of these men were mainstays on either the varsity or frosh quintets following the tournament.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

FUCHS' and MACK'S big game will result in more than improved facilities for men's athletics for the planned athletic field will include space for women's sports. The range of such activities has broadened each year so that there are now enough varieties of sport to suit the inclinations of the most athletic "R" girl or the girl with only a casual interest in sports. The addition of a course in fencing has been hailed by the women with enthusiasm. Girls' sports are now intra-mural, but improved means may lead to wider activities.

Fencing, introduced this year, is so new that it has no W. A. A. head of sport to represent it.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

The physical education department, with Miss Marjorie Weber at its head, provides a wide range of sports for Rollins girls. With but one assistant, Miss Constance Wetherell, Miss Weber would hardly be able to take care of the more than ten sports offered if it were not for the fact that the girls who participate in these sports themselves take a share in conducting them, in arranging schedules and places to play, in caring for equipment, and in the many other jobs that attach themselves to the successful completion of any athletic program. In charge of each sport, there is a student appointed by the board of the women's athletic association, and the success of any one sport is largely dependent upon the energy and initiative of this student, called its sport head.

A different program of activities is offered each term of college. In the fall the women have the choice of archery, basketball, golf, swimming, tap-dancing, or tennis. Archery, golf, tap-dancing and tennis are repeated in the winter term, but hockey is offered as the major sport, and canoeing and fencing are added to the list of sports. The spring term sports include swimming and volleyball as majors, and folk-dancing and musical comedy in addition to tennis and golf.

When each term opens, class teams are formed in each of the team sports. As competition shows up the qualities of the players, two teams, called Odd or Even, are formed for each sport. These teams then fight keenly for the school championship, and their members receive high W. A. A. point scores.

Hockey is the winter term major sport. Its head is Mary Lucas. Basketball, headed by Vivien Skinner, is the fall term major.

Tennis may be played throughout the year. Ann Biscoe was tennis head. Swimming is a spring term sport, and Telma Van Buskirk was its head.

Archery, a popular fall and winter sport is headed by Mary Howard. "Weedie" Wilson heads the volleyball players.

Hiking and tap dancing are sports that are available throughout the year. Lottie Turner was the W. A. A. head of hiking; tap dancing has no head.

THE TOMOKAN · 1932

Golf can be and is played at Rollins throughout the year. The golf team has no W. A. A. head of sport. Canoeing, on the other hand, is a spring term sport, and is headed by Kay Hara.

ORGANIZATIONS

ELIZABETH LYLE, Associate

GOVERNMENT

FOLLOWING the precepts of self-government, Rollins has a number of organizations made up of representatives from the entire student body. They range from the central control of the Student Association to the sectionalized heading of Greek-letter groups or to the general management of all publications. The Student-Faculty Committee makes an excellent medium for the exchange of ideas between the two groups that make up the College. Through these bodies, an attempt is made to regulate the daily life of the college along sane lines that will afford the most real good to the students and others involved in their jurisdiction.

Standing: G. Barber, Stoner, Higley, Towle. Sitting: LeRoy, Chapin, Turner, Hara, Wilson

THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

TOWLE

The student body of Rollins has organized itself into a body called the Student Association for the purpose of governing itself. The association is made up of all regularly enrolled students of the college and is supported by the annual dues paid by its members. The functions filled by the Student Association are those filled by any democratic governing body. The association supplies a representative form of government for all the activities in which the student body as a whole takes an interest. It finances these activities and it controls the elections which make the government continuous.

The association is headed by a president, vice-president and secretary. The treasurer of the College acts as treasurer of the Student Association. Final decision on all policies and action rests solely with the Student Council, a body made up of the three association officers and a man and woman from each class except the freshman class. One freshman is a member of the council. The association through the council controls each of the departments of the association such as the publications union, men's athletics, women's athletics, the glee club, Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. and the debate team. The council has the power to recall any officer in any of these departments and it decides upon their budgets.

Working on a plane parallel to the Student Council is the Student-Faculty Discipline Committee. This committee is made up of the Dean of the College, the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, four other members of the faculty, three men students and three women. This committee is entirely independent in its action of the administration of the College or of the Student Association. The student members are elected by the Student Council.

The Student Association has representation also on the Social Committee of the College, which is given charge of all social affairs given by the students. This committee keeps a calendar of events in order to avoid conflicts, regulates the hours which girls must keep and decides on other matters of a similar nature. This year it has placed a ban on subscription dances given by student organizations.

This year the Student Association has revised its constitution, shortening it, and making it more precise. The major changes have been such as will adapt it to the New Plan of Study. Another change gives the publications union power to appoint editors and managers.

THE INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Inter-Fraternity Council at Rollins acts as the governing body of the men's fraternities as a whole. Fraternity rushing and pledging rules are worked out by the council. In the case that any dispute arises between two or more fraternities, the council acts to settle the matter.

Besides acting as an advisory and governing body, the Inter-Fraternity Council strives to further a spirit of cooperation, harmony, and good fellowship among the fraternal organizations falling under its jurisdiction.

The council personnel is composed of two members from each fraternity, and the officers are elected in rotation in the order of the founding of the fraternities; those for the year being Stanley Todd, president; Ted Walton, vice-president; George Carrison, secretary and treasurer.

Standing: Weeden, Wilson, Fullington, Reece, Heilman
Sitting: Rathbone, Miller, Carter, Lynch, Sprague, Lesser, Fontaine

THE NATIONAL PAN-HELLENIC ASSOCIATION

The main idea behind the Rollins chapter of the National Pan-Hellenic Association is the promotion of a general feeling of goodwill among the women's fraternal organizations on the campus. The association regulates all sorority rushing and pledging rules, and co-operates with the college in settling any group questions which may arise. In addition, this All-Greek organization discusses all sorority matters in general.

The association is comprised of twelve members, two representatives from each of the six Rollins sororities. Willie Pearl Wilson has been acting as president this past year, being assisted by Myrabeth Reece as vice-president and Betty Lynch as secretary and treasurer.

*Standing: Katzman, Kelsey, LeRoy, Ottaway, Parks. Seated: Harris, Smith, Childs, Wattles

THE PUBLICATIONS UNION

The Publications Union was organized several years ago to insure cooperation between the publications sponsored by the student association, and to provide for their efficient management.

The board of the union consisting of the editor and manager of each publication, its faculty advisor, and two members-at-large from the student body, appoints the editors and managers for each publication.

The board requests from the student association, appropriations sufficient to finance each of the publications and distributes this money and supervises its expenditure by the requiring of monthly financial reports from them. The supervision exercised by this management has proven its value this year, when in spite of depressed business conditions, not a single one of our publications has shown an operating deficit.

Standing: Wetherell, Weber, Biscoe, Turner, Lucas, Wilson, Fullington. Sitting: Howard, Arnold, Skinner Calhoun, Rathbone. The other members of the board are: Hara, Wood

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION BOARD

The governing body of the Women's Athletic Association is the board of fifteen members that is made up of the officers of the association and the nine sports heads, each of whom has been chosen to direct, for the year, one of the women's sports. Since these officers are generally upper classmen, the freshmen women are allowed two representatives on the board.

This group maps out the program for the year and supervises the work and play of the association. All new association officers are nominated by the board, and all constitutional questions are settled by it. The board decides who shall receive the sports awards.

THE PRESS

IN such a center of literary achievement, it is not strange that Rollins should be justly proud of her publications. If the literary aspirant wishes to tell the world a story, or dedicate to it a poem, there is the Flamingo. If the dash and fire of journalism appeal to him, let him report for the Sandspur. If the collection of information for a small book interests him, mayhap he will become one of the editors of the R Book. But if he really wants the thrill of them all, plus the fun of conducting a resume of all his work and play, the annual staff advises him to aspire to TOMOKAN work in his last year.

PARKS

The Staff of the TOMOKAN wishes to take this space to express its appreciation to the student body and to the administration of the College for the cooperation that they have shown in making possible this book.

To the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, we are especially grateful for their permission to use their house as a studio for the annual photographer. In particular, the editor is glad of this opportunity to thank the members of the Staff for their help in preparing the book.

The Senior members of the Staff are acknowledged at the beginning of each section, with the exception of Albert Valdes, who had charge of all the photography for the annual. Frederick Tone made all the seniors' snapshots, and many other pictures.

THE TOMOKAN

Much of the drudgery that is connected with the publication of the TOMOKAN was done by the Junior assistants who appear in the picture above. To Donald French and the business staff goes the credit of having secured advertising enough to make the largest section the TOMOKAN has had for some time. Credit for the cartoons, by the way, belongs to the business manager.

The two-color drawings running throughout the book are the work of Robert Higleyman. The pen-and-ink drawings were made by George Barber, with the help of James Gowdy, Audrey Chandler, and others in the art department. The drawing of the chapel was done by James Gowdy, and the end papers by Jane Bowers. Marcia Lane assisted in the preparation of the fraternity arms.

THE SANDSPUR

OTTAWAY

The Rollins Sandspur, weekly news publication of the college, is now in its thirty-eighth year. Definite growth and development in every department has marked its history especially during the last year. A larger staff with duties more specifically designated has resulted in a more accurate timely, and efficient paper.

New type and make-up has been effected. Its financial condition is absolutely sound. This year the average issue has had six pages as opposed to four of last year. The Sandspur now compares most favorably with the papers of larger colleges and universities. At the annual convention of the Florida Inter-collegiate Press Convention at Tallahassee, Florida, in April, the Sandspur was awarded a cup as the best college paper in Florida.

THE SANDSPUR

The foremost policy of the paper is to be in every way possible an accurate expression of student opinion thereby promoting constructive changes and development in the college life and thought. Further, by the practice of such a policy, it may encourage the interest in current political and social problems of the outside world which are of vital concern to college-America. Therefore, unlike many college papers, the Rollins Sandspur has since its beginning, striven and succeeded in being cosmopolitan in nature.

The Sandspur's interest in cosmopolitan news has not caused its staff to forget that the paper is chiefly an organ for the publication of local news and opinion. Rollins and her interests are the first interests of the paper.

THE FLAMINGO

The Flamingo is the student literary magazine published six times each year from December to June. Its scope of writing covers poetry, plays, sketches, and stories. The Flamingo is on the exchange list of colleges and universities all over the country, being considered among the best of literary magazines.

Founded with high standards, it has endeavored to be a non-partisan organ for encouraging and fostering student writing. John Kelsey, editor, and Betty Childs, manager, deserve much praise for the issues that have come out this year.

THE R BOOK

The R Book is published by the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of assisting the orientation of the new students who enter Rollins each year. It acquaints them with the College, its faculty and administration as well as the student leaders, and the clubs and organizations in which they are soon to take an active part. Freshmen rating rules and customs are introduced lending a truly college atmosphere to the little book that has gained for itself the name of the Freshman Bible. It was edited this year by Jeanne Carter, editor, and Harry Fosdick, associate.

HONOR CLUBS

WITH the advent of two new honorary fraternities, Omicron Delta Kappa, a men's activities honorary, and Pi Gamma Mu, a national organization which is open to exceptional social science students, Rollins increases her activities in this field. In such organizations as these, scholarship, athletics, departmental success, extra-curricular activities, and excellence in some of the arts are noted and in a sense rewarded, by admission into the groups. Some of the honoraries are quite open, and the proceedings are public. Others have no meetings or business, but are purely honorary in nature. Still others carry on their activities so secretly that the campus is unaware even of their membership roll.

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Omicron Delta Kappa was founded at Washington and Lee University on December 3, 1914. It is a men's national activity fraternity, open to juniors and seniors who have been outstanding in college activities. The purpose of Omicron Delta Kappa is to recognize men who have attained a high standard of efficiency in college activities, and to inspire others to strive for conspicuous attainments along similar lines; to bring together the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life and thus to create an organization which will help to mould the sentiments of the institution on questions of local and inter-collegiate interest; to bring together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual interest and understanding. Membership is limited to those who have achieved special distinction in scholarship; athletics; social leadership, including conspicuous service to the institution; publications, or other non-athletic activities.

The local chapter at Rollins was installed May 23, 1931. Since its installation Omicron Delta Kappa has rapidly assumed a high position on the campus. It was instrumental in the organization of the freshman - sophomore contests and banquet and the return of the long-lost St. Andy. In the spring term, Omicron Delta Kappa issued an edition of the Sandspur, explaining its objects, and announcing the revival of a prize for the year's outstanding athlete.

THE ROLLINS KEY SOCIETY

The Rollins Key Society is the one undergraduate scholastic fraternity on the campus. As an honorary organization it recognizes service and activities, but emphasizes scholarship. The main object of the fraternity is to keep up the scholastic standards of the undergraduates, and to secure a charter of Phi Beta Kappa, the national honorary scholastic fraternity.

Membership in the order is limited to two per cent of the student body, new members being elected from the two upper classes. A high B average over a period of two years in addition to a pre-eminence in extra-curricular activities is necessary for membership. The officers this past year have been Lloyd Towle, president, assisted by Betty Rathbone as vice-president, and Lottie Turner, secretary.

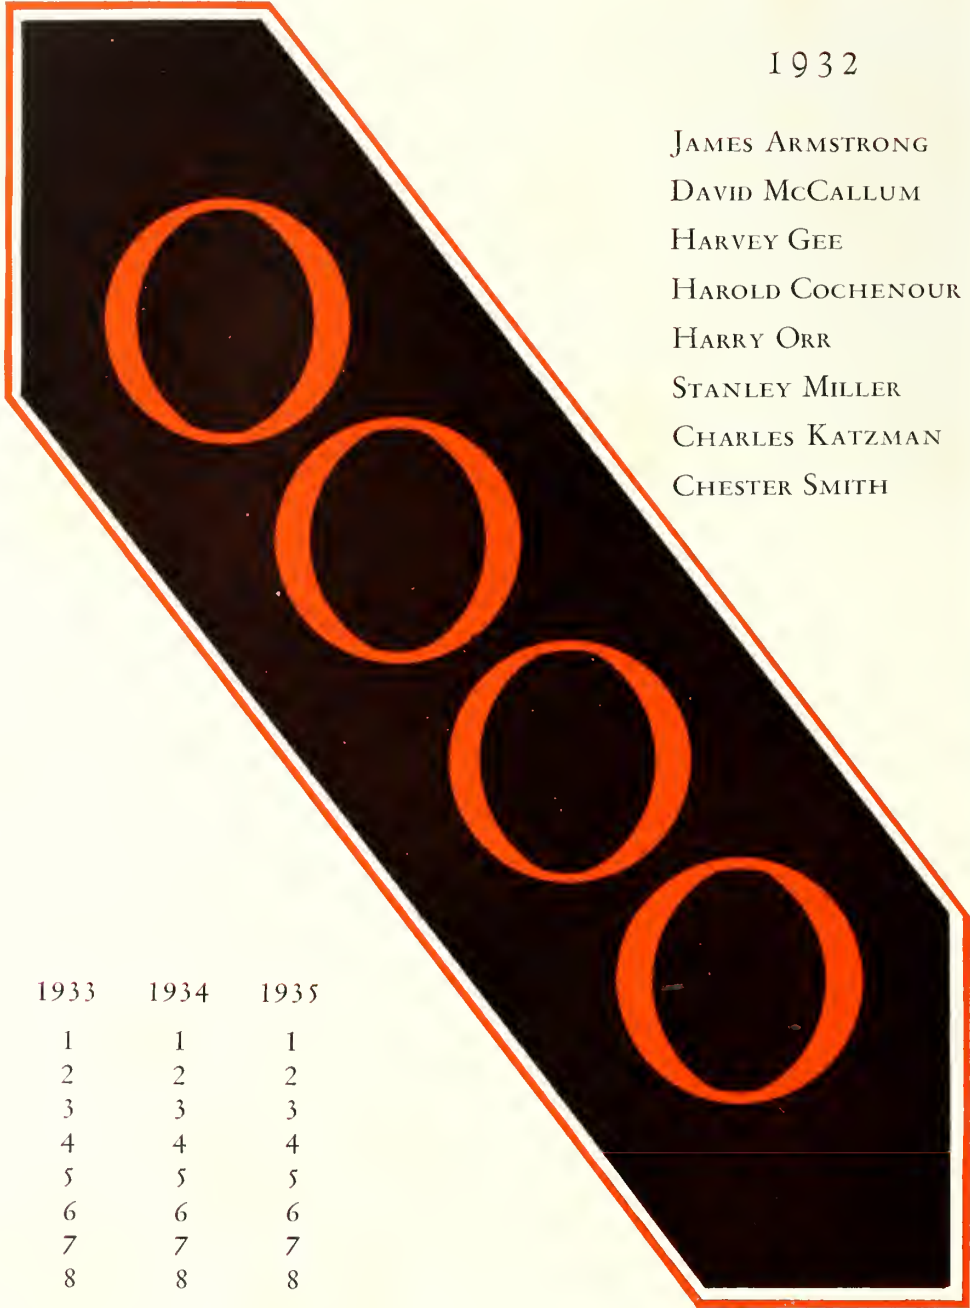

The Key Society entertained the Phi Beta Kappa Association of Central Florida and the Stetson honorary scholastic fraternity when they met here at Rollins this year. At this meeting Dr. Stiles, professor of zoology, spoke on "Zoology and Religion."

Throughout the years of experimentation in the educational field and the early stages of the conference and concentration plan at Rollins, the Rollins Key Society is one of the few factors that has remained fundamentally unchanged. As it has stood since its founding a beacon light to truth and learning, so it stands now and always will stand. The Key Society has, however not been hostile to these changes, but has aided in adopting and perfecting them.

THE RHO KAPPA SIGMA FRATERNITY

Rho Kappa Sigma, an honorary chemistry fraternity, was founded in 1928 by several earnest students of the chemical sciences, with the cooperation of Dr. Georgia as its faculty advisor.

The fraternity has stood for scholarly work; for a scientific spirit in school and in life; and at the same time it has had its side of fun. Its officers are not president, vice-president, secretary; they are the primary retort, the secondary retort, and the catalytic agent. Although the New Plan of study at Rollins requires a knowledge of chemistry, it might be well to say that a catalytic agent is one that makes things run smoothly—that makes things work.

The group has varied in size from year to year, trying always to limit its membership to students who are earnest in the study of sciences; and several of its alumni members have won coveted scholarships and fellowships in graduate schools of chemistry. One of Rho Kappa Sigma's alumni, for instance, won a Rollins exchange scholarship to Germany where he continued his study of chemical science.

This year the fraternity boasts its largest and most interested group of members. Due to increased laboratory facilities and an enlarged faculty in the chemistry department the study of chemistry has become more popular. Too, the fraternity has grown in prestige as it has grown in age and finds it easier to maintain its membership. This increase of membership has enabled Rho Kappa Sigma more nearly to reach its ideals.

THE "R" CLUB

The Student Association of Rollins, through the athletic department, bestows upon the members of its teams honors in the form of letters, sweaters, service stars, and other emblems. The Rollins men who have won a letter in major or minor sports form the "R" Club. Membership in the "R" Club is one of the greatest honors which the student association bestows.

The foremost interest of the club is to promote active and enthusiastic participation in men's athletics. Every year the "R" Club sponsors the football banquet, when letters and sweaters are given to the members of the football team. At this year's banquet at the close of football season Harvey Gee had the unique honor of receiving two service stars for long service on the team. Eight others were awarded a single service star. Seventeen football men were awarded letters. Later in the year fourteen letters were awarded to basketball men. Minor letters were also given to those prominent in other sports.

The "R" Club this year will help in the selection of the year's outstanding athlete—the man that was the best all-round player on the Rollins campus and the one who had contributed most to the good name of his alma mater. To the man selected a cup will be presented by O. D. K.

Arnold, Hara, Hancock, Rathbone

THE "R" GIRLS

The Women's Athletic Association rather than the physical education department makes awards of letters and sweaters to athletically inclined girls. Awards are made on the basis of a point system and letters are given to those who have scored a thousand or more points by outstanding participation in the various women's sport.

Points are earned slowly and with great effort and only those who are very much interested in a wide range of sports and who work hard and steadily at them earn a letter before their senior year. As letters are awarded in May each year at the W. A. A. banquet only four girls can be included in the annual as "R" girls.

Kay Hara, the exception that proves the rule, won her "R" during her sophomore year. Frankie Arnold and Lois Hancock were awarded letters in their junior year. Betty Rathbone just missed this honor and will be awarded an "R" in May.

Besides the "R" W. A. A. offers emblems appropriate for each sport to members of the winning Odd or Even team in sports such as basketball and field hockey and to the high point individuals in golf and tennis.

The difficulty of obtaining the W.A.A. awards makes them all the more desirable, and adds to the honor carried by the trophies. The W.A.A. letter is one of the most coveted of the honors granted at Rollins, and not more than one girl in twenty-five ever attains to this honor. No one not a member of W.A.A. can be awarded the girls' "R", but this does not exclude any deserving girl.

THE PHI BETA FRATERNITY

Nine years ago the Phi Beta fraternity was founded at Northwestern University as a means of promoting music and drama. Phi Beta strives to teach its members to lead a life of service and to seek and develop the highest type of womanhood.

In the spring of 1923 the Theta Chapter of the professional and honorary music and dramatic fraternity, Phi Beta, was instituted at Rollins. Since that time it has become a strong and influential, to say nothing of an inspirational, organization. For quite some time the Phi Beta trio, composed this year of Willie Pearl Wilson, piano; Ann Bisco, cello; and Katherine Goss, violin; has furnished music before and during productions of the Little Theatre Workshop in recreation hall.

The fraternity has a unique program for pledge day. On this day a chapel service is sponsored by the organization, a luncheon is given in connection with the Stetson chapter, and a program of original compositions is given by the pledges.

There are three different forms of affiliation with the Phi Beta fraternity, the active members, the honorary members and the patrons and patronesses. One of the recently acknowledged patronesses is Miss Annie Russell whose name is enough to make any organization immediately recognized.

Other Members: Coogler, Ransom, McKay, Goss, V. Douglas

The president of Phi Beta during the past year was Frances Arnold, Vivian Douglas was vice-president, Lucille Tolson was secretary and Eleanor Wright, treasurer.

Just before Christmas each year, in the evening, about half-past ten, the members of Phi

Beta gather and proceed from house to house singing Christmas carols. Feminine voices singing songs of Christmas visit the homes of each of their patrons and patronesses who live in Winter Park. This is but one of several of the traditions of the Rollins chapter that encourages, at the same time, the study and enjoyment of the fine arts.

INTERESTS

THE primary interest of the past year has assuredly centered around the erection of the new theatre, with "our Annie Russell" in it, and of the lovely chapel with Dr. Campbell as its dean. That the two—religion and drama—should be joined together as they were in the beginning, has a fine symbolism. Art, music, and literature are contributing their parts to the perfection of the whole structure, giving to it an essence of the beauty, wonder, and poetry of life in its highest expression. Already the place of this artistic achievement has become hallowed ground, instrumental in sounding a deeper chord than any mere building could.

The Workshop Staff includes: Lynch, director; Sanderson, assistant; Ransom, student assistant; Kyner, scenic craftsman; Thomas, wardrobe mistress; Cleveland, electrician; Currie, head usher; Mrs. Cass at door

THE LITTLE THEATRE WORKSHOP

The new era in the history of the dramatic arts field began in 1932 when the Annie Russell Theatre was opened. The theatre, the gift of Mrs. Edward Bok, was dedicated to and named for Miss Annie Russell as a tribute to her art on the stage and as a token of the deep and life-long friendship which exists between Mrs. Bok and Miss Russell.

The Annie Russell Theatre is an architectural landmark and is perfectly appointed and well equipped in every detail. Nothing is lacking which would make for the comfort of the audience, or the convenience and efficiency of the actors. Miss Russell herself is director of the new theatre.

To mark the dedication of the theatre, Miss Russell returned to the stage after a retirement of fourteen years to play in the first production presented in the building, a tragedy by Robert Browning, "In a Balcony." Miss Russell took the part of the queen.

The Little Theatre Workshop under the direction of Mrs. Dorothea Thomas Lynch has presented this year, "The Sequel"; a play cast entirely by faculty members, "Shall We Join the Ladies?"; "The Admirable Crichton"; "Little Women"; an original revue, "The Workshop Worries"; "You and I"; and "Romeo and Juliet." The organization made seven off-campus appearances this year, and it won the state theatre tournament cup at a contest in Orlando. "The Rollins Players" is an honorary organization which includes members of the Workshop who have done outstanding work.

The Rollins dramatic season ends each year with the play contest in which three of the outstanding one-act plays of the season are presented again during the same evening. The audience is allowed to vote for the best production, and several judges also help to render a decision not only as to the best play, but they decide who the year's outstanding player was, and award several prizes.

The theatre workshop is intimately connected with the dramatics arts department of the college, and it draws most of its material from the classes held by the department. Mrs. Dorothea Thomas Lynch, who has for six years directed the Little Theatre Workshop, is also head of the college department of dramatic arts. Miss Russell, as director of the Theatre, acts as an advisor.

The Glee Club sings at an out-door chapel service

THE GLEE CLUB

There is no organization which can be called the Glee Club at Rollins. The Men's Glee Club and the Women's Glee Club form at times two organizations, and at others one which is called the Combined Glee Club. Under the heading of Glee Club comes also the A Capella choir of the Knowles Memorial Chapel.

The Glee Clubs are under the direction of Clarence Carter Nice, director of the Conservatory of Music. Because of Dr. Nice's long experience at training choirs, and because of their constant rehearsals, the glee clubs maintain a high standard of vocal excellence. They have a large repertoire of songs which have been selected for their quality and their appropriateness for the various activities at which they are asked to sing.

These occasions come frequently. It is the custom of the clubs to give an annual recital in the spring at the close of Winter Park's musical season. This recital was given this year of May fifth. The glee clubs appeared at other college functions this year in addition to their regularly scheduled recital. They provided a good share of the entertainment at the College Christmas party at recreation hall at the end of the fall term. For this program the glee clubs sang the "Gloria from the Twelfth Mass," "For All Thy Starry Splendor,"

"The Glory of the Lord," and lighter Christmas favorites. They sang at the laying of the corner stone of the Annie Russell Theatre, grouped on the steps of the building then being erected.

The Glee Clubs furnished a large proportion of the members of the a Capella choir of the Knowles Memorial Chapel. This choir of forty-six voices made its first appearance at the dedication of the Chapel March twenty-ninth. Since the dedication services the choir has sung regularly at the Sunday services in the chapel. They add to the beauty of the services by their songs and by their appearance for the choir members wear robes of blue and white material. Singing to the accompaniment of the organ in the chapel, the choir has undertaken religious music of great difficulty, and has rendered it in a competent manner.

The Members of the Glee Club

The Men's and Women's Glee Clubs have a combined student management. The two organizations are financed in part by the Student Association and in part by their gate receipts. Richard Wilkinson this year managed the clubs as president of the combined glee club. A girl, Lucille Tolson Moore, was vice-president, and another, Thelma Van Buskirk, was treasurer. Peter Stoner was the treasurer of the clubs.

The glee clubs are a hard-working group. There is an almost daily practice schedule, men or women singing for at least a half hour. For this work, there is given credit in the music department, but this credit is not accumulated as fast as it might be in doing other kinds of work. Their constant practice has made of a group largely composed of singers who are new this year to the glee club, a well organized and competent choir. The glee clubs lost heavily last year because of the great number of singers who graduated, but the programs presented this year have been of greater difficulty than the clubs have attempted before.

THE STUDIO CLUB

The Studio Club is an organization of art majors and art students who have done outstanding work in art. It is a member of the Florida Federation of Arts and the Southern States Art League.

At the Florida Federation of Arts convention in Jacksonville, Hugh McKean took first prize for the entire exhibit, Ruth Harris first in sculpture, and Janet Cad-man Sharp first in block printing.

In the Allied Arts exhibition, Roger Holt took second prize in oil painting, Ruth Harris second in sculpture, Boyd Kyner first in design, and Myra Thomas first in Batik work.

The club has assisted in arranging exhibits for, and in entertaining, this winter, many well-known artists.

THE ROLLINS DEBATE TEAM

In the most brilliant season of the Rollins debate history thirty-five colleges and universities were challenged, twenty-seven of which went down before the Rollins team. Outstanding among these opposing schools were Oxford University (England), University of Porto Rico, Bates College, University of the City of Los Angeles, College of the City of New York, and Purdue. This extensive schedule necessitated three trips which totaled over seven thousand miles and took over six weeks to complete.

The Rollins team was developed under the tutelage of Professor Harry R. Pierce. This year saw the first girls' debating team at Rollins. The girls have worked hard and have entered at least one inter-collegiate debate.

The debating season ended when the team met the debaters of New York University at Rollins and won over them a decisive victory.

THE INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The Rollins International Relations Club has the unique advantage of having among its members a fairly representative group of students from other countries. Its purpose is mainly to create a more intelligent outlook on the affairs of foreign countries.

Through the foreign students the club has been able to develop greater understanding and sympathy for the conditions of the various countries represented, including Sweden, France, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Spain, Turkey, Iraq, Austria, Germany, and Switzerland. Of particular value were the views on the disarmament question. In the fall term the club circulated a questionnaire asking the opinion of faculty and students alike on the disarmament situation. The answers showed a surprising upward trend toward total disarmament.

This year the Southeastern Conference of International Relations Clubs met at Rollins, and an unusual opportunity of hearing many eminent men and women was afforded Rollins students. Through the influence of Doctor Holt and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace the club secured such renowned speakers as Jane Addams, James McDonald, John Martin, Mrs. Edgerton Parsons, Fred Smith, Rear Admiral Hussey and Frederick Lynch.

Officers of the Rollins club were Virgel Carnell, president, Marcia Lane, secretary, and Everett Dwight, treasurer.

THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

The object of the Cosmopolitan Club is to cultivate friendly relationships between persons of different nationalities, and to promote international goodwill.

Meetings are devoted to the discussion of economic, domestic, and social affairs rather than to international relations. The club's native membership cannot exceed fifty per cent, but since Rollins seems to be attractive to foreign students for a score of reasons, not the least of which are its cosmopolitan spirit, its location, its size, and particularly its freedom of expression at round-table discussion, the club has attained considerable size.

Rollins' foreign scholars come to us through the efforts of the Institute of International Education, and of Dr. Holt. Through the same agency, Rollins sends scholars abroad. Penelope Pattison, of last year's graduating class, is studying this year at the Ecole Normale Supérieure in Sevres, France.

Problems under discussion in the club this year were the Khirgis people; the rent in the East; the Polish corridor; Austria; Sweden; Spain; Switzerland; Turkey, Italy and Czechoslovakia; and Canada. Entertainment featuring native food and dress was an integral part of discussions.

The presidency of the club this year was held by Ismet Sirri; the vice-presidency by Virgel Carnell. Richard Shattuck was secretary, and Jerry Schutz, treasurer.

THE ROLLINS LITERARY SOCIETY

The Rollins Literary Society grew out of a great need for organization of student interest in the field of literature. At the time Miss Frances Grover was here in the capacity of instructor of history, she noticed this need and founded the club which has taken its prominent role in the activities of the college. It has succeeded in fulfilling its fine purpose of deepening literary appreciation, sharpening critical faculties and of encouraging creative writing among its members.

Club membership is limited to thirty girls, who are admitted by application and vote of the society. Ann Biscoe is president, Carolyn Heine, secretary, Carol Hemingway, program chairman.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Le Cercle Francais of Rollins College is composed of students and faculty members interested in furthering the study and cultivation of the language, literature, art, and history of France. The club is a member of the national organization, Federation de Francaise aux Etats Unis et au Canada, which consists of approximately two hundred fifty societies.

Programs consist of readings, talks and such one-act plays as "L'illustre Dupin-chel," "Dans un Ascenseur," and "Les Pauvres Gens," given by various members of the cercle.

Officers of the cercle are elected at the first meeting.

THE SPANISH CLUB

Those students at Rollins who manifest an interest in the various Spanish arts are eligible to membership in the Spanish club. The purpose of this organization is to extend the interest and knowledge in the contributions of Spain to humanity. At the bi-weekly meetings interesting programs consisting of Spanish plays and talks are given. The Spanish club, through its active interest in the promotion of its aims—extending the interest and knowledge in the Spanish contributions to humanity—has done much to maintain the cosmopolitan atmosphere on the college campus. This year, the club has had the pleasure of entertaining Senor Louis Usabal of Valencia, Spain, as well as the debaters from the University of Porto Rico. Senor Usabal is a well-known artist, and the debate team of Rollins engaged the University of Porto Rico in its second debate with teams not American.

The study of Spanish is of essential interest to students at Rollins, because so much of Florida's history can best be approached through the medium of the Spanish language. Too, Cuba and the islands of the Caribbean, not to mention the settlements of Latin-speaking people in the larger Florida cities, give students on vacation many opportunities to practice their Spanish. Consequently, the Spanish club is one of the largest of our study-clubs, and one most interesting.

THE GERMAN CLUB

The purpose of the German club is to foster in the student through social group meetings, a natural fluency in conversational German. In addition to the general social hour, various forms of German literature are studied at the meetings. In this way the student becomes familiar with the speech of the nation and its thought as well. Members are drawn largely from German classes but others interested may attend and participate.

It is the policy of the club to encourage student members to carry on the activities and plan the meetings. Different leaders are elected at each meeting for this purpose.

The club operates under the theory that informality is conducive to greater progress, and that actual conversation in German leads to the quickest assimilation of the forms, idioms, and vocabulary of the language. The club's members attest to the efficiency of the method, and they take great interest in attempting to hold such conversations.

For this reason, little stress is laid upon the presentation of memorized dramas, a customary feature in the programs of the ordinary language - study club. More emphasis is put upon the impromptu dramatization of incidents of every-day life, using the German language to convey the thought of the temporary dramatist.

Discussions and reviews of books and dramas do, however, enter largely into the study periods of the club.

THE Y.M.C.A. AND Y.W.C.A.

The Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. work in co-ordination of purpose at Rollins functioning together in certain specific activities. Both serve on the welcoming committee in the fall term, sponsoring and directing the "Y Mixer" at which the incoming students get better acquainted.

Together the two organizations operate a second-hand book exchange throughout the year, the profits from which go to charity. They are co-publishers of the Freshman Handbook.

THE WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the Women's Athletic Association is the fostering and promoting of a spirit of cooperation and sportsmanship in athletics, and a high physical efficiency among the women of Rollins College.

A large number of the women students participate in the association sports which include field hockey, basketball, volley ball, tennis, golf, archery, horseback riding, dancing, and the aquatic sports.

The W. A. A. with the cooperation of the physical education department sponsors a dance in the fall term, a dance revue during the winter term, and a final banquet in the spring term when awards are given to indicate prominence in sports.

While it cannot be said that without the Women's Athletic association there would be no women's sports at Rollins, there can be no doubt that the association has done a great deal to make these sports possible, by creating an interest in them, by helping to manage as well as to finance them, and by rewarding in a suitable way those who have been faithful and able. All these duties the Women's Athletic association undertakes.

MISS WEBER

The association works in close cooperation with the college at all times, and especially with Miss Marjorie Weber who has been for three years the director of women's athletics for Rollins. Miss Weber came to Rollins after a varied experience as director of physical education in playgrounds and in other colleges, and was well equipped to direct successfully the physical education of the Rollins co-eds.

FRATERNITIES

ENTERING as if into a "bourne from which no traveler returns," freshmen affiliate themselves with the various secret brotherhoods. After rushing, pledging, and initiation are safely accomplished, they and the rest of the college can settle down to a comparatively well-ordered existence in the circle of their friends. Men tend to become "pals" with the members of their own fraternities exclusively, but in this way they are more likely to have a wide group of intimates than if they were left to their own devices in forming associations. There are six fraternity groups on the campus, ready to welcome new men, and help establish them in the life of the college.

BEAUTY

THE art of acquiring pulchritude is becoming so universal among members of the vainer sex, that any necessity of choosing the four most beautiful is a pleasantly difficult task, to say the least. Having an interest in the college peace movement next its heart, the staff had not intended to run this section, but popular demand proved its publication the lesser of two wars. Men's dormitories and fraternities entered their sixteen favorites and pictures of these girls were thereupon judged. Jean Jacques Pfister, eminent Swiss portrait painter, consented to select four of the sixteen and his selections are presented herewith by the TOMOKAN.

SORORITIES

THE mysteries of the Greek-letter world are not bound by the narrow confines of masculinity, for we find most potent sisterhoods on the campus! The number six must be in the stars for Rollins Greeks, since that number represents the sorority as well as the fraternity groups. It is significant that this year every sorority is affiliated with a national organization, and that these organizations are ranked among the very best on the Pan-Hellenic roll of membership. Rollins sororities furnish homes for resident members, sympathetic bonds of friendship for the whole group and encouragement to work for an objective bigger than self.
